Dear John,

We are as we were, but a bit more so, wearier, broker and busier.

Lil's work as a tax consultant ends next week. Thereafter, once I prepare what is immediately needed in our suit against the government for the ruin of our farm, I am less tied down.

Nanny has never given me any meaningful response to my last letter. I was supposed to have gone to NYC but that was delayed to where I couldn't make it. It has not been possible since.

Meanwhile, I have made some preliminary inquiries along a different line and I think that were it not for the nature of my work, there would be no question. They have committed criminal offenses.

If I can't get up there soon, is there any chance you can get down here some weekend?

Best to you both,
